York played two games to-day, and Pittsburgh wen both. The first game was lost through miserable fielding by the visitors. Sullivan pitched a magnificent game, and would have won easily had he received any kind of support. The local men could do absolutely nothing with his delivery, and of the four hits off him three were lucky scratches. Pittsburgh took the lead right at the start in the second game and maintained it throughout without trouble. It was a clow, tedious game, in which the one-time great team were clearly outclassed. They played ball as though they had to, not because they wanted to. Attendance, 3,500. The score: SEW TORK.

HEMPSTEAN, July 22.—Bicycles are said to be the cause of the failure of the local baseball team here. The club has only played five games, and the attendance gradually fell off, 50 the managers have decided to suspend baseball. The club was under considerable expense, and there is no one connected with the management who cares to assume the risk of future games. It is asserted that those who were formerly regular patrons of the game have taken to bicycle riding and have no time for baseball.

Bruce Whitehill, one of the pitchers of the Newark Baseball Club, has been released. The pitcher says that his release is due to the fact that he refused to sign a new contract and accept a reduction of $25 a month in his pay. George Ellis, the owner of the team, denies Whitehill's atory, and says the release was given because the pitcher has been in poor health and unable to do good work. The pitcher also easy that Ellis kept back $29 due lifn, but says he is welcome to the money if he needs it more than he does.

There appears to have been a suiden college of money if he needs it more than he does.

There appears to have been a sudden collapse of the strong Oritani team at Hacketback, as indicated by last Saturday's score with the Genuine Cuban Glants. It is now said that on July 11 the managers of the Oritani team had a lively bout with Pitcher Gus Murphy, who it is said wants to force his brother into a place on the nine. Murphy pitched is poor a game on July 18 that the crowd manifested its disjust. As a result the managing committee announces a reorganization of the team for to-merrow's game with the Newports. The Rhode Islanders won the former game I to 0. It is claimed by many that agreat deal of the difficulty with the Oritani team lies with an unpopular field manager.

A Draw Between the Haverfordians and

Eron, England, July 23.-The Haverford cricket players made a good fight here to-day in their match against the crack Eton eleven. Although unable to add a victory to their laurels over the premier school of Great Britain, the visiting cricketers can safely put a feather in their cap by virtue of having played the Etonians to a draw. The scores of J. A. Lester and D. H. Adams stood out in bold relief among the Haverford totals. The partnership between these two batsmen was the distinguishing feaure of the visitors' inning, and saved the side from a very cheap dismissal. Haverford went to the bat first and lost the first wicket for a small total. Then came the splendid stand by small total. Then came the splendid stand by Lester and Adams. Though the wicket was fairly good, neither bateman was able to take liberties with the bowling.

The Etonians on I going to the bat soon demonstrated that they were going to make a most determined effort to knock off the runs necessary to win before the call of time. Both Lubbock and Penn treated the Haverford bowling to some rare punishment. When stumps were drawn, however, the total was 118, and they were thus compelled to call the match a draw. The score:

A Drawn Match Setween the Philadelphi-

HALIPAY, N.'S., July 23 .- Owing to a heavy rain storm the cricket match between phians and the Halifax garrison was not resumed this morning. The match stands as a draw in fa-vor of the garrison team. The last game of the arries with the Philadelphians will begin to mor-row, when the visitors will meet a team com-posed of the best players of the Hisifar garrison and the Wanderers.

Manbattan Veterans Win. The veteran team of the Manhattan Cricket Club had a good game with the junior team yesterday at Prospect Park and gained a victory over the youngsters by a score of 85 to 76. Byron Wharton was in fine form with the willow for the vets and showed some of his old time batting ability in a good inning of twenty-four. A. H. Fowler also played well for twenty-four. For the juniors the best work was done by W. Adam, O. Whit-ing, and F. Levannion.

Race for Two-year-old Fillies-Four Favorites Fall by the Wayside on a Heavy Track-Ajax Again in the Lead. The Brighton track was heavy and dead yesterday after the double soaking it received on Wednesday, and the six races on the card for the second day of the long summer meeting were run off in slow time. As on the opening day, form was at a discount, four favorites fallresterday in the first race, at a mile, and was with Aiax. Tragedian, who opened an evenpair to the head of the stretch, where both rar by keeping Azure close to the inner rail, and he the place, was beaten three lengths by the winner. The third race, at six furlongs, resulted in a winner.

The third race, at six furlongs, resulted in a spirited finish between the two good three-year-olds Bonaparte and Sherlock, who were virtually the only ones in the fight. Maximum's stubborn refusal to break with the others occasioned considerable delay at the post, Starter Flynn finally dropping the flag with the sulky youngster standing flat-footed. In the somewhat ragged start Formal was badly placed, while Bonaparte and Sherlock got off in front and raced heads apart up the backstretch. Griffin stole a lead of a length with the favorite in rounding the far turn, and, although Sloane rode Sherlock out under whip and spur, Bonaparte held his advantage to the end, winning by an open length in a punishing drive.

Withouly Cromwell, Pearl Song, and Farthing to beat in the fourth race, Lehman started a hot favorite at 9 to 20. Farthing, who jumped away in the lead, settled back through the field at the first turn bleeding at the nose. When Coyle kept on riding the colt, horse and jockey went down together a little way up the backstretch. Neither was injured. Cromwell made the running to the far turn, where he was seen to be beaten, as Lehman and Pearl Song moved to the front in a brush for the lead. After a sharp rally at the head of the stretch Tarai held the race safe, winning handily by two lengths.

The two-year-old fillies in the fifth race rut up the closest finish of the day, three of the seven starters coming home heads apart. The talent turned to the Morris filly Casseopia for the winner. She was heavily played, going to the posta-tio-5 favorite. Lady Mottle had many followers at 7 to 2, but the others were ignored in the betting. Casseopia and Chic were the first to break the line at the start, and they with Lady Mottle were in front to the middle of the upper turn, where Chic's chance to win disappeared. Littlefield then made his ride with Casseopia, and as the filly headed into the stretch with a clear lead close in at the rail, she looked an easy winner. Lewis on Lady Mottle, and Healy, with the 30-to-1 outsider Trayant, had pulled wide for the firmer footing on the extreme outside of the homestretch, and they came up fast at the end. Littlefield, like facts of the spectators, apparently overlooked the pair, and before he could land his favorite on the safe side of the post she was beaten. Not more than a short neck separated the trio, Trayant and Lady Mottle finishing stride for stride on the outside, with Caseopia on almost even terms next to the inner rail.

The sixth race proved to be an easy thing for Mirace, much to the surprise of the talent, who made Hornpipe a hot favorite. The bace was very slow in the early part of the mile and a furlong, the propose swinging along a length in the lead, as though he could win hands down when called on to part company with Marshall and Mirage. When the trio turned for the finish, however, Hamilton was riding the favorite hard, while Doggett, having sent Mirage to the front after ridius; waiting race to the stretch, had only to sit still and let the four-year-old sail to land the race by an open length. Summarles follow: sail to land the race by an open length.

NEW YORK A. C. TRAINING TABLE CHESS MASTERS AT NUREMBERG. Is Now Parbidden Fruit tor Athletes, but Lasker Drops a Half Point-Steintin and

The eventful occasion in sporting history on which mighty Casey struck out, has been crisis at Travers Island, the country home where the brawn, muscle, and speed of the New York Athletic Club are supposed to be developed. The balmy zephyrs of the Sound in that vicinity have for some days past wafted the rumors from Park row to the effect that certain types of the modern amateur were under suspicion; but the track and field experts at this exclusive Eden never for a moment supposed that the threatened wave of reform would ever reach the island. They were rudely awakened from their lotus dreams yesterday when the flat went forth that for a dreary period of three weeks the privileges of the free training table would be withdrawn. To say that consternation reigned among the dozen or more track and field experts in Trainer Murphy's class would be putting the situation midly. The athletes were for a time too much taken aback to do anything more definite than serious "thinks" in secluded corners, but as their unsatisfied appetites ripened they formed an emergency committee on ways and means.

One of the star middle-distance runners of the aggregation proposed to pay legitimate dining rates, and get away with enough at one sitting to last him for three days. He even went so far as to interview the captain, and point out that as he had reached the stage of maturity, when his muscles and habits were too fixed to be unset without baid results, he should at least have the usual privileges on every second day. His logical appeal was received so frigidly that a delegation started out for the Neptune House, near at hand, and endeavored to negotiate boarding table rates more in keeping with their assets than the island menu.

A member of the team, who has relatives in the city, drafted a plan by which he could have his "gub" passed in at a certain elevated railroad station on his way to the island every evening, and, altogether, after a few days of comparative starvation, the irrepressible athletes hope to have a fairly good commissariat supply available.

Meanwhile they are allowed to occupy what is known as the "upper dorinitory" and to make their tollets before a solitary mirror. They are debarred from the "lower dormitory" because that roomy place of repose is monopolized by a small host of rowing aspirants, including three full crews and enough substitutes to run a regatta on their own account. This formidable aggregation of "watermen" has not achieved much so far, but the national regatta is near at hand, and on the off chance they are retained at the training table where they have shown consistent industry since the early spring. The substitutes fare as lavishly as the regular men, to the undisquised envy of the athletes, who allege that when the coach needs a man he chases around the city for one rather than be an accessory to a disaster by inviting one of the substitutes to take the vacant seat. A veteran member of the club, in discussing the present situation at th serious "thinks" in secluded corners, but as their unsatisfied appetites ripened they formed

A. V. Linton, the professional bicyclist, whose record for twenty-five miles was 53:05, died at Aberdare, Wales, yesterday from typhoid fever.

Inton was one of the best-known riders in Europe. He was on the racing path for a number of years, and defeated all the crack riders on the Continent. His specialty was long distances, and he held records from five to twenty live miles at different times. Two years ago be joined the professional ranks, in which he continued to race successfully. During his career on the path Linton held some of the National Cyclists Union chammonships. On Oct. 7 last, year be defeated James Michael in a fifty-mile professional cham; ionship race.

To THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-Sir: I was surprised at a letter pristed in sec. the satisfied with what they call the first prize? The Hariem Wheelmen are content with the cap, eve; if it is a third prize, but I do not believe, for one instant, that there is anybody interested in eyeling who takes much stock in the statement that the Harlems woo the third prize. If there was any room for doubt as to which club was entitled to the prize, it could easily be dispelled by asking any disinfercated torson who saw the purade. As showing the difference between competitors I simply wish to call attention to the action of the Brooklyn Reyele Club, which, in my humble judgment, was more the action of sportsmen, who, having been defeated in a contest accept the decision of the ludges gracefully, bow to the victor, and offer their congratulations. We were all contestants, some body had to be defeated. When it was announced that the Harlem Wheelmen had won the cup, the Brooklyns cheered us to a man.
